Come hear the story of Harriet Tubman's life performed in costume by actress and historical interpreter, Dr. Daisy Century.

Born Araminta Ross, Harriet Tubman lived as a slave on a Maryland plantation. Frequently threatened, beaten, whipped, and starved, Ms. Tubman's indomitable spirit could not be broken. A Union spy during the Civil War as well as a nurse, Ms. Tubman dedicated her life towards humanitarian causes that included women's suffrage after the war.

There will be time for questions after the performance.
Refreshments will be provided.
