

Meet the local man who rowed across the Atlantic in record time

Come meet George Pagano, who, along with rowing partner Caitlin Miller, set World Records for being the fastest and youngest mixed pair to row across the Atlantic Ocean in the 2015 Talisker Whisky Challenge. He rowed in memory of his grandfather, who died from ALS.

They departed from the Canary Islands in December 2015 and travelled 3,000 miles, reaching Antigua in the Caribbean in February 2016. They received no assistance during their crossing in their 21-foot boat.

They are the youngest Americans to row across the Atlantic. Their story has been featured on CBS, Main Line Times, and the Delaware County Daily Times.

Come hear about this real-life adventure directly from Media resident George Pagano.
